

POLITICS GETTING HOT

President's Return to Washington Will Mean Big Bubbling in Pol.

HE HAS GREAT TASK BEFORE HIM

Believed His Choice for Successor Will Have Rough Road to White House.
"Favorite Son's" States Will Probably Not Be For Secretary Taft.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—Regarding October 23, when he returns to Washington, President Roosevelt will spend a year in which all other matters will be subordinated to politics. Of course, there will be recommendations to Congress, the handling of important international affairs, and the administration of domestic questions of moment, but none of these subjects will be given the attention that the President will bestow upon the all-absorbing one as to his successor in the White House. The pot will start boiling as soon as Mr. Roosevelt touches foot on Washington soil once more, and it will be kept sizzling right up to the day of the election.
That he will be in the center of activities more without saying, for as President of the United States he is a recognized leader of his party, and whoever is nominated will naturally expect him, as a Republican, to do what he can toward the success of the ticket.

But Mr. Roosevelt has more than a mere partisan interest in the outcome of the contest for the Presidential nomination. It is a personal interest, for he has let it be known that he wishes Secretary Taft nominated, and it is but natural to believe that he will use his best efforts to bring this about.
He will have his hands full to accomplish this, however, for the indications are that the Secretary of War is going to have anything but a smooth road to the White House.

Mistakes Pointed Out.
In the first place, the feeling is pronounced that grave mistakes of management have been made, and the President himself is charged with having unwittingly helped to place the beast in the undesirable condition it occupies today. He or his advisers are held to have disappeared any signs to which the candidates for the nomination in particular location might have. They have criticized the activities of the supporters of Gov.
Hughes, in New York; of Senator Knox, in Pennsylvania, and of Vice-President Fairbanks in Indiana. These states along with those of New England, will probably not be for Taft in second choice, and Illinois and other important commonwealths will, it is believed, follow suit. Such a situation would seriously obstruct Mr. Taft's way to an early nomination.

The candidate who came within the so-called "reactionary" class have proposed different tactics. They have not sought to encourage upon one another's home territory or to stir an expression of local opinion at this stage; but on the contrary, have urged that that opinion be given full vent before the convention. It is known, for instance, that Speaker Cannon placed a restraining hand upon some of his overzealous friends in New York who were booming him there, instead of Gov. Hughes.
Possibilities Not Transcending.
"Go to work for Hughes," he told them in effect, "and make the best showing possible for him in the convention.

Likewise Fairbanks and Knox are not pushing their claims in Illinois or New York, or, for that matter, even in Ohio. As Fairbanks, Knox, Cannon, and Hughes are representative of the interests opposed in a general way to the President's policies, or rather his method of putting those policies into effect—each of their state delegations finding they cannot name their favorite son, may be expected to fall in behind some one else of their own kind.

The Taft people at an early day will it is understood, ask the President to declare himself flatly on the third term question. The leaders of the Secretary's fight are encountering in many sections in their quest for delegates a sentiment for the President for re-nomination that embarrasses them in securing pledges of support. They wish to remove the President from the equivocal position which willfully he occupies in the minds of the voters of the country. They will urge him to say outright that he is not a candidate and will not accept the nomination, even though it be tendered to him, or to make some statement approximately as strong. These leaders undoubtedly hope that such a declaration will serve as a notice to Roosevelt men throughout the country, and especially those in close touch with the administration in an official way, to bend their energies to cause the nomination of the Secretary of War.

EMPEROR JOSEPH DOES NOT GAIN IN STRENGTH

The Main Reason for Solicitude Is the General Condition of the Aged Monarch.

(By Associated Press.)
VIENNA, Oct. 19.—Emperor Francis Joseph has now been ill nearly three weeks and while he has made some improvement his condition is not yet entirely satisfactory. There is still a certain amount of disquietude regarding the outcome. The candidate is not diminishing and the strength of the patient has been reduced because of lack of nourishment and sleep. The disease itself, however, is not causing any actual uneasiness, the main reason for solitude being found in the general condition of the aged monarch.

Up to the present time the emperor has worn a military uniform but on the advice of his physicians he is now clad in a blouse, which covers his chest completely.

On his head he wears an old fashioned cap, such as was the fashion in the Austrian army several decades ago.

Wants $1,000 For Damage to Property.
SUFFOLK, VA., Oct. 19.—In the $1,000 damage suit of John H. Gay against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, which was tried in Nassau county circuit court Thursday, a verdict was rendered in favor of the railroad company. The plaintiff sought damages in the sum of $1,000 because of a fire last December, for the origin of which the defendant company was alleged to be responsible.

WAR SCARE A FAILURE

Washington Takes Effort to Frighten Public at What it is Worth.

NO EXTRAORDINARY PREPARATIONS

Ships Now in the Yards Being Overhauled, Would Be There Anyway.
Even if Orders For the Cruise Had Not Been Issued.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—Efforts to raise a Japanese war scare in the hope that it may frighten the public into demanding that President Roosevelt revoke his order sending the battleship fleet to the Pacific are accepted in Washington for just what they are worth. Newspaper reports from here that preparations for a hostile emergency in the Pacific are absorbing the attention of military and navy authorities to the exclusion of everything else are taken as absurd, and they are regarded simply as tactics in a familiar campaign of attempted embarrassment of the administration.

Any person who takes the trouble to stroll through the War and Navy departments can easily see how far big country is from war scare. The Secretary of War is absent from Washington on a mission to give civil administration in the Philippines.
The Secretary of the Navy is in New York trying to unravel a local snarl between the government and contractors. The chief of the bureau of navigation who has direction of all naval personnel and the movement of ships, has recently found time for a vacation, while the chief of the bureau of equipment, under whose direction comes the installation of a new battleship fire control system, described as being an emergency move, has left for his country home in New England. The commander-in-chief of the battleship fleet, whose office is depicted as about to bring people to the care of a peace loving people, is in Washington to have his teeth attended by his favorite dentist.

Commander-in-Chief Not Worried.
The Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, who as an Assistant Secretary of the Navy before the Spanish-American war scarcely slept or ate in a hunting trip in Louisiana. He has not been bothered with a detail of military or naval policy since he announced that the ships would be sent on a practice cruise to the Pacific in December. On his recent Western trip to test the public sentiment he referred publicly to the cruise. Instead of finding fear of war he heard bursts of enthusiastic approval.

The vessels of the battleship fleet are in Atlantic coast navy yards undergoing the repairs needed to maintain the efficiency required for service, either in annual West Indian manoeuvres, or in a Pacific cruise.
Even had no orders to the Pacific been issued these ships would have gone to the navy yards just the same.
In the yearly routine, installation of a new fire control system fits the needs developed in target practice. If anything were required to prove that the fleet is not being overhauled with warlike purposes it would be the fact that the fire control system will not be installed before the fleet departs. The equipment will be sent overland to the Pacific coast and the installation completed when the fleet has finished its cruise.

Recital of the efforts which the army and navy are making in recruiting sounds below their peace footing, because the youth of the country can get two or three times as much money on farms and in the cities. The shipment of ordnance to the ships is the fulfillment of a harbor defence policy recommended by Admiral Dewey just after the Spanish-American war, but ignored for years in the appropriation by Congress.

FRANCIS MACMILLEN AT EXPOSITION THIS WEEK

Wonderful Young American Violinist
Will Appear At the Auditorium Twice Next Friday.

Various notable musical attractions have been offered at the Exposition during the past few months, but none has been of more importance than the engagement of Francis MacMillen for two concerts at the auditorium next Friday. Mr. MacMillen probably is the most wonderful violinist America has ever produced. He will be assisted at the auditorium by Madame Van Dyke, soprano of the Royal Court at Berlin.

Mr. MacMillen was born at Marietta, Oct. 13, 1885, and first demonstrated his genius for the violin at the tender age of five years, while residing with his family in Springfield, where he received his first instruction. So rapidly did he progress that at the age of seven he was taken to Chicago, where, as a pupil of the Chicago Musical College, he displayed such remarkable promise that he was sent to Berlin to continue his studies. Here, as a pupil in the Royal High School, under the instruction of Dr. Joachim, he attained a reputation as a youthful prodigy so marked, that solicitation for his attendance at other conservatory in Europe eventually resulted in his being placed at the Royal Conservatory at Brussels, where he became a pupil of Caesar Thomson.

Here, at the age of sixteen, at the annual concert in June, he was declared the laureate of the conservatory and given "the grand prix with greatest distinction," together with the Van Hal cash prize.

The young musician's triumphs recorded the first instance in the history of the conservatory when such honors were won by an American.
So elated were his countrymen who were in Brussels at the time that in an enthusiastic demonstration they carried him on their shoulders through the streets of the city.

McMillen's debut in London four years ago, when he played at Queen's Hall, assisted by the Queen's Hall Orchestra under the direction of Henry J. Wood, is said to have marked an epoch in music in London. So extravagant were the critics in praise of the young violinist that his English reputation was practically made at one stroke. For three years following he played in concert throughout England and Europe. Last year he made his first American tour after an absence of ten years, being assisted in his debut concert in New York by the New York Symphony Orchestra under Walter Damrosch. In all McMillen played over ninety concerts in America last year.

Alvah H. Martin.
- 2—Invocation—Rev. J. T. T. Hundley, Norfolk, Va.
- 3—Music—"America"—Palmey's U. S. Band.
- 4—Introduction of presiding officer—Hon. H. St. George Tucker.
- 5—Address of presiding officer.
- 6—Music—Thomas Jefferson March —Band.
- 7—Address—Thomas Nelson Page, of Virginia.
- 8—Music—National Airs—Band.
- 9—Address—Hon. John E. Reymann, Mayor of Philadelphia, Pa.
- 10—Star Spangled Banner—Band and organ.

During the day the Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence met and formed a permanent organization.

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty-three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children too, are greatly strengthened by them.
Guaranteed also for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by all Druggists, 50c.

Newport News, Va., Oct. 16, 1907.

Dear Sir,—I have read with much interest the prospectus of a proposed Corporate Association to handle ice and fuel that is being circulated by Mr. T. E. Pearce of this city.

I think the principle is a good one and have heard much favorable discussion. But the question that seems to be uppermost in the minds of those with whom I have talked is: To what purpose will the twelve thousand five hundred dollars ($12,500) set aside for promotion be used?

Will it go directly into the pockets of Mr. Pearce and his associates? Mr.
Pearce states that he believes the stock sold at twenty-five (25) cents will be paying a fair rate of interest on par value of one dollar ($1.00) in a short time.

An explanation of the above questions will clear the minds of many who are generally interested to the public. Yours truly, (Signed) GEO. T. KELLUM.
